Contact information of the Data Protection Officer

Please send all data protection-related communications to:

tietosuoja@turkuamk.fi

The Data Protection Officer and the Data Protection Specialist acting as his/her assistant and deputy will deal with all communications sent to the Data Protection e-mail address.

Purpose of processing the personal data

The personal data is processed for the purpose of collecting and managing information related to participants taking part in events organised within Interreg Baltic Sea Region funded MaDaMe – Maritime Data Methods for Safe Shipping project.

Legal basis for processing personal data

The legal basis for processing personal data is the data subject's consent. (General Data Protection Regulation, article 6, paragraph 1, subparagraph a).

Processed categories and storage times of personal data

The data to be processed are first name, last name, organization, country, email and special dietary requirements and food allergies. The personal data will be deleted at the latest at the end of the project on 31.01.2027.

Regular information sources

The personal data is received from the data subjects themselves. On a case-by-case basis, data may also be requested or received from the employer or other representative of the data subject.

Receivers or receiver groups of personal data

The personal data will be received by the MaDaMe project's consortium members.

Essential information regarding transfer of data to third countries (outside the EU or EEA countries)

Personal data will not be transferred to third countries.

Principles of data protection

Personal data related to the MaDaMe project are stored in information systems approved by the data controller and used by the MaDaMe project consortium. Access to the data is restricted to authorised project staff of Turku University of Applied Sciences and the project consortium partners. The data are processed and stored within the EU/EEA.

Data subjects' rights

The data subjects' data protection rights are described here at a general level. The rights and applying them are influenced by the legal basis of the processing, and it varies on a case-by-case basis. You can obtain more information on your rights in the project-specific data privacy notices. According to the General Data Protection Regulation, the data subject has the right:

- to receive information on the processing of their personal data, unless otherwise regulated by the law
 - to request for access to their personal data and rectification regarding incorrect or insufficient information
 - to erase their data (not applied, if the basis for processing is compliance with a legal obligation or performance of a task carried out in the public interest)
 - to restrict the processing of their data
 - to object to the processing of their data, if the basis for processing is general or legitimate interest
 - to request the transfer of data they have submitted themselves from one controller to another, if the basis for processing is consent or agreement
 - withdraw the consent they have given

- notification obligation of the controller on the rectification/erasure/restricting of processing of personal data
- not to be subject to automated decision-making (the data subject may allow automated decision-making by their consent)

Data subjects may exercise their rights by contacting the contact person mentioned in the privacy notice or the Data Protection Officer. More information on data subjects' rights is provided by the contact person and/or Data Protection Officer.

If processing the data does not require identifying the data subject without additional information or the controller cannot recognize the data subject, the right to inspection, rectification, data erasure, restriction of processing, obligation to report and transmittal is not applied.

You have the right to file a complaint with the Data Protection Ombudsman's office, if you consider that valid data protection legislation has been breached in processing your personal data. The contact details of the DPO can be found in the beginning of the privacy notice. All requests are processed on a case-by-case basis.
